

Sakura SHIMADA

Senior Lecturer

Research themes

Learning, knowledge transfer
Organizational skills/capabilities
Generational diversity
International comparison

Teaching areas

Strategic management
International and intercultural management
Management control

Professional career of Sakura Shimada

Sakura Shimada is a lecturer in management sciences at Cnam and a member of Lirsa since October 2015. She received her PhD in management sciences in 2014 from the University of Paris Dauphine. Her dissertation focused on a French-Japanese comparison of intergenerational learning in light of continuity and evolution of organizational competencies. This current work revolves around the strategic and cultural dimensions of knowledge and skill evolution, both at the individual and organizational levels.

✚ CV Sakura Shimada

Publications et travaux scientifiques

Données extraites du portail HAL

Coordonnées

sakura.shimada@lecnam.net

